

YWCA of Fort Wayne, Inc. Privacy Policy

The YWCA of Fort Wayne respects the privacy of its clients, staff, volunteers and donors.

Through normal business transactions we collect information including name, address, telephone number, fax number, email address, billing information, and work affiliation. The YWCA does not sell or share this information to other organizations or businesses for solicitation or any other purposes.

Occasionally we will use this information for our own research and fundraising campaigns. However, individuals or organizations may remove their information from future solicitations or mailings by contacting the YWCA Development Office at (260) 424-4908, x250 or ywca@ywcaerew.org.

Information collected from participants in the YWCA's Domestic Violence Services programs is kept separate from all other records. In accordance with Federal and State law, and in conjunction with best practices for ensuring participant safety, information about program participation is reported only in aggregate. Information that will allow determination of individual identity of participants is not released, except as mandated by law.
